Review of FY2017 Financial Results

Revenue for FY2017 was $199.5 million, a decrease of 0.7% from FY2016. Revenue is recognized on the percentage-of-completion method. The decrease in revenue was primarily due to the measures introduced by the Chinese government to cool down the real estate market in recent years and the Company's strategy to become more selective in taking on new projects in order to preserve cash flows. This resulted in slower growth and a reduced gross margin in the past three years. Under the uncertain economic environment, the Company has been selective in taking up new construction projects. New projects taken up in FY2017, FY2016 and FY2015 amounted to $260 million, $86 million, and $273 million, respectively. Most of the Company's projects have duration between 1 to 3 years.

Costs of construction for FY2017 were $182.5 million, compared with $182.6 million for FY2016. Costs of construction include all direct material, labour, subcontract and other related costs, such as equipment repairs. The two major components of the costs of construction are direct material and labour costs. Direct material costs were $130.1 million and labour costs were $47.9 million in FY2017. In comparison, direct material costs and labour costs were $128.0 million and $48.8 million respectively in FY2016.

Gross profit for FY2017 was $17.0 million, representing a margin of 8.5% on revenue. Gross profit for FY2016 was $18.3 million, representing a margin of 9.1% on revenue.

Other income was $6.0 million in FY2017, compared to $5.1 million in FY2016. Imputed interest on accounts receivable and unbilled revenue of $5.8 million and $4.8 million was recorded to other income for the years ended June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

G&A expenses were $7.1 million in FY2017 compared to $6.1 million in FY2016. The increase was consistent with the increase in business activities as evidenced by the number of new projects taken up in the past year. Another reason for the increase was the additional rental expense from the new head office in Jiaxing.

The net impairment loss on accounts receivable and unbilled revenue was $1.9 million for FY2017 ($3.3 million for FY2016). In FY2017, the Company has provided for impairment loss on long outstanding and overdue accounts receivable amounting to $3.0 million (Impairment loss reversed of $0.3 million for FY2016). On the other hand, the Company has received net $1.1 million in FY2017 (Impairment loss of $3.6 million for FY2016) from several accounts that already recorded an impairment loss on unbilled revenue in previous years.

Interest expense was $6.1 million in FY2017, a decrease of $1.5 million over FY2016, primarily due to the two retractions on the outstanding convertible debentures in October 2016 and October 2015.

After-tax net income for FY2017 was $4.6 million or $0.17 diluted earnings per share compared with $5.2 million or $0.20 diluted earnings per share for FY2016.

The Company had working capital of $49.5 million, including cash, cash equivalents, and restricted cash totalling $10.8 million as at June 30, 2017. This compares to $37.5 million and $16.0 million, respectively, at June 30, 2016.

Outlook

“Economic growth in China remains strong and we remain cautiously optimistic in the short and mid-term,” added Mr. Shou. “We will continue to focus on growth in Jiaxing and the surrounding area and on collecting payments from our customers. In the near term, measures imposed by the central government on the residential market and the tightening of financing facilities to property developers may dampen the pace of growth for the Company. Over the long term, we expect that growing urbanization and the ongoing development of tier two cities will contribute to higher demand for the Company's construction services. We believe that those trends will create growing demand for specialty construction projects with higher profit margins. It is our intent to capitalize on those trends, upgrading our qualification and engineering standards to ensure that we can tap into the growing market potential.”
